

Standards Development Organisation (SDO) Round Table

MONDAY 20 FEBRUARY 2017

The Standards Development Organisation (SDO) accreditation function provides a valuable mechanism to ensure organisations in Australia are able to develop their own industry standards and, provided the organisation is accredited, have these documents recognised as Australian Standards.

Although Standards Australia has a long history of developing voluntary Australian Standards, becoming an accredited SDO could be a suitable path for some organisations, depending on the particular circumstances or environment within that industry or sector.

Following from a successful first SDO Round Table in May 2016 which focused on accreditation and audit processes, Standards Australia will now be focusing on standards development process and best practice methods at SDO Round Table 2017.

SDO Round Table 2017 will provide an opportunity to discuss:

- SDO Project Prioritisation Systems;
- Standards Australia's Standards Development Processes; and
- Public outreach and SDO promotion;

There will also be an opportunity for open forum discussions amongst the SDOs.

As a valued SDO or interested stakeholder, Standards Australia invites you to participate at the Round Table.
